The mine owners of West Virginia have succeeded in stirring up the miners to pass resolutions against any reduction of the duty on soft coal. As it is costing the mine owners in West Virginia less to mine their coal than the price paid in Great Britain, it is rather hard to see why any protection is needed for the coal industry in West Virginia, unless the mine owners wish to make several times the profit that the mine owners make in England. But it seems to us that the coal miner is not much interested in this, and should allow the mine operator to pass his own resolutions asking for three or four profits.

Modjeska is now filling a two weeks engagement in New York, and after that her agent says she will not play again in that city for two years, if at all. After resting this summer she proposes to go to Europe and settle up her affairs in Poland. While there, she will play a farewell engagement in the different cities of Europe, from St Petersburg to London. Her arrangements are all made except in Paris. Her last engagement will be at Bochuls, in Galatia, where she made her first appearance on the stage. It is her intention to return to this country to live.

Mr. Matthews made a very awkward mistake the other day in talking with a reporter in Birmingham. It is usually the duty of the home secretary to pass upon the petition for any pardon of the queen, though the queen signs the pardon. Mr. Matthews, the secretary of state, spoke of this act of granting a pardon as in his own name and not in that of the queen. The mistake has brought down a good deal of criticism on him for his neglect of conventional form and his breach of etiquette. This mistake, however, was a very pardonable one. The power of the crown in England is such a fiction that it is not a matter of surprise that such a mistake should be made.

Notwithstanding the serious apprehensions of the effect of the president's message the Pennsylvania railroad has just ordered from the Pennsylvania steel works fifty thousand tons of steel rails. This large road will also order of mills other Pennsylvania thirty thousand tons to use on the western division. It is stated that the price paid is $31 50. It now turns out that whatever depression that there was, was caused by the fact that the steel rail works had put the price so high that the railroads would not order. Now that the price is reasonable, the railroads are beginning to order. The Lake Shore has been waiting for a price of $32 per ton to order twenty thousand tons more, and we presume now, that the price is down, the order will be given.

The newspapers are publishing various theories of the origin of the leap year custom. The correspondent of the New York World gives this as the origin:

The custom of every fourth year's permitting the fairer sex to assume the rights and prerogatives appertaining to their brothers during the remaining three years, is very ancient and dates back to the time when St. Patrick was first known as a missionary to the Emerald Isle. When he ordained it was not definitely known, but it was connected by the parishioners of St. Colman on the year 1200 to begin the first leap year in accordance with the custom. The law was as follows: "It is decreed and enacted that during the period of Bey Maid Rhoit Megrettie, the fourth year, known as Leap Year, all maid ladies of both high and low estate shall have liberty to speak to man she likes, also to, if they choose to take her to be their wife, but all refusals to the performance of any duties or boss as they shall think fit to be exempted and no gift he can make it appear that he is betrothed to any other woman to hear up that which he has given."

But Brewer, in his "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable," gives another history of its origin which we have not seen in the newspapers. It is as follows:

The ladies [illegible] and if not accepted, Cupid was known, on Patrick having thrown the frozen end of the lasso, was walking along the streets of Town Savage when he was accosted by Bridget Cuinn, and he would that a maiden had a right to ask the manner over why she preach the ladies claiming the right of [illegible] Patrick with a wicked twinkle [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] Patrick [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] Patrick [illegible] self-sacrifice [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and

For several weeks past it has been known among a [illegible] that officials of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad were negotiating for the purchase of the Colorado Midland railway, and their efforts have been crowned with success. The company has been organized to build a road from this city to Colorado City and Manitou. The project has taken definite shape and articles of incorporation have been drawn up and filed with the secretary of state. The capital stock of the company is placed at $100,000 and the directors for the first year are A. Anderson, F. E. Nichols, E. W. Giddings, Leonard Robertson and D. B. Parkey. The road will be built first from the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe depot to Colorado City. The company will be known as the People's Passenger Railway company.

The real estate market was unusually active yesterday, in consequence of the announcement made in the GAZETTE yesterday morning that the Chicago & Rock Island railroad would build into this city. Several real estate agents were employed nearly the entire day in showing property to would be purchasers. In West Colorado Springs, though no effort has been made to force the sale of property there fifteen lots amounting in value to about $2,500 were sold. One real estate agent reports sales amounting to $9,000, while several others announced sales but declined to give any figures. Property most active was located in the "south end" and "north end" portions of the city. Real estate dealers predict a general advance of property in every section of the city.

The announcement in our issue of yesterday that the main line of the Chicago, Rock Island and Colorado railroad would be built to this city, was received with general satisfaction on the part of the city's business men. Speculations are now rife as to where the road will enter the city. A gentleman who congratulates himself on being thoroughly posted regarding the road's intentions yesterday stated that the Rock Island would enter the city on the Denver and Rio Grande track. That the connection would be made near Mt. Washington and that the road would use the same depot. Yesterday's issue of the Denver News contained the following with reference to the building of the road. "The proposed line from the Nebraska line to Colorado Springs has already been partly surveyed, and will be perfected as soon as the weather will permit. The road is expected to be in operating condition by the middle of autumn or before. President Cable will be in Denver in a few days, and matters concerning the placing of bonds and issuance of stock will be arranged.

On Monday evening a young man who has been connected with a prominent grocery establishment attempted to leave the town without making a satisfactory settlement with his numerous creditors. For several weeks past he has been running up debts in every direction, and living in a very extravagant manner. He stated to his acquaintances that he had plenty of money and that he would soon own the grocery store in which he was working. But the importunities of his creditors gradually increased and on the evening above mentioned he determined to leave town. On Monday morning he purchased $25 worth of boots and shoes from a well known shoe dealer for which he obtained credit. He then ordered an express team to come around to a certain street corner and take his trunk and made his preparations to leave the city by a late train. In the evening one of his friends, who knew of his intentions and suspected that he left [illegible] when he expressed surprise and told the officer on hand, who asked the young man where he was going. He replied that he was going out of town. The officer then told him that he could not go until he had paid some bills which he presented, and which amounted to $31. When told that he would be arrested for obtaining goods under false pretenses if he left town with these bills against him, the young man [illegible] money, though he left the city that evening as he had intended. The bills which he paid are only a small part of his indebtedness.
